Shepherd's P.I.E.

... Pastoral Insights Expressed

Dear Friends,

"The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones; and the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones. If, therefore, you are not trustworthy with dishonest wealth; who will trust you with true wealth?" (Lk 16: 10-12) If these words of Jesus in today's Gospel didn't send a shiver up your spine; you were probably not listening or grasping the gravity of what He is addressing to all of us. His words focus our attention on the reality of personal integrity and honesty. While we may be influenced by people in our lives, for good or for bad; at the end of the day, the practice of genuine honesty and integrity has nothing to do with anyone else, but ourselves. These virtues are acquired through the practice of stripping away the false self (the one I think I am, should be, or just deserve to be) and accepting the true self dreamed into existence from all eternity by the God of Love.

During my freshman year of College, among the required reading for the Introduction to Philosophy class, was the book by Victor Frankl titled, Man's Search for Meaning. Frankl was an Austrian psychiatrist, a Jew and a Holocaust survivor, who was head of the neurology department at the Rothschild Hospital in Vienna in 1942, when he and his family were transported to Theresienstadt concentration camp (where his father died of starvation). The family was later transferred to Auschwitz (where his mother and brother were murdered in the gas chambers). From 1942 until the end of World War II, Frankl was a prisoner in 4 different concentration camps, in one of which, Bergen-Belsen, his wife died to typhus. In that book that I read so many years ago, Frankl wrote: "Freedom, however, is not the last word. Freedom is only part of the story and half of the truth. Freedom is but the negative aspect of the whole phenomenon whose positive aspect is responsibility. In fact, freedom is in danger of degenerating into mere arbitrariness unless it is lived in terms of responsibility. That is why I recommend that the Statue of Liberty on the East Coast be supplemented by a Statue of Responsibility on the West Coast."

IS DOING THE RIGHT THING.
EVEN WHEN NO ONE IS WATCHING.

C.S. LEWIS

Unapologetically, with a wealth of experience of the genuine lack of freedom and of profound personal loss, Frankl was critical of the developing understanding of our notion of freedom popular in the U.S. He strongly disagreed with the cavalier approach to and widespread acceptance of equating freedom with a license to do virtually anything one wants. To Frankl, freedom without responsibility was an oxymoron.

The true practice of faith is not something we do simply because someone else told us, or because there is a dogma that says this or that. Mature faith is achieved when I no longer say "I believe ..."; because, on a certain inexplicable level, "I KNOW." I may not be able to explain it to others, or prove it with empirical data, but again, I do not need to. Faith, on the deepest level, is knowing who I am and Whose I AM. Everything that I am and have belongs to God, who has graciously shared it with you and me. Life is not about "me." We are alive and participate in life not just in this realm of time and space, but unto Life Eternal. Not only has God entrusted the stewardship of creation into our fragile and weak hands, but has conjoined His divine nature with our human nature in Christ.

Highlighting the qualities of honesty, integrity and prayerfulness, ultimately, a right relationship with God, Jesus invites us to put in the effort to acquire a mature faith and to "die to self" letting go of the adolescent things that obscure our sight or block our ability to trust in God alone. We do not wake up one day and decide to behave as an adult. Rather, through childhood and adolescence, we watch how the adults in our lives behave: do they tell the truth? do they respect others by remaining faithful to their word and commitments? do they fulfill their responsibilities well? how do they handle adversity? etc. Kids watch and see everything. As we interact with our peers and our elders we learn how to relate properly. How do we learn or how do we model: Respect for authority, despite its imperfection ("I ask that supplications, prayers, petitions, and thanksgivings be offered for everyone, for kings and for all in authority, that we may lead a quiet and tranquil life in all devotion and dignity. This is good and pleasing to God our savior, who wills everyone to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth.") Respect for others, despite the many things that differ between persons ("The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones; and the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones.") respect for all life, all we have and are ("If you are not trustworthy with what belongs to another, who will give you what is yours?"). The Gospel today challenges us to be honest about ourselves, about others and about God. Be of good cheer and have a blessed week!

St. John's Hospice Casserole Program

"Meditate upon this slowly: I am asked for very little compared to how much I am being given."

~ Josemaria Escriva

The following was written by David, a former client and resident of St. John's Hospice: "The biggest lesson or takeaway from my time at Saint John's is that no matter what the rules of society might be, there is no right or wrong way to get to the finish line. In the world we live in today, it's easy to write someone off from one bad choice or wrong action, but we need to remember that we are all on our own journey, and no matter how bad your situation may seem, it's always important to give someone a chance to prove themselves. The support I received at St. John's provided me with the tools necessary to get to this point. This time helped me remember that my situation doesn't define me, but the true test of character comes from the effort I put forth in improving myself." David went on to pursue a degree in Psychology, got a job, and now has a place of his own.

Our appeal for your help is constant every month. Please consider joining our crew of cooks. Fully cooked main dish casseroles can be dropped off at the Mason Avenue door to the food pantry on Tuesday, September 27 between 3:00 - 4:00 PM. Please use the aluminum pans and lids found in the entrance of the church. Kindly mark the lid of your casserole with the main ingredients and the date prepared. For further information please contact the Outreach Office (484-461-4954). Thank you for feeding the homeless.

St. Vincent de Paul Society

In today's Gospel, we see that prudent decisiveness means that we recognize that all our choices in daily living are really choices for eternal life. Admission into heaven is something money cannot buy. The only currency that has any value to secure our entrance is that of love.

As you place your gift in the poor box for the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, know that you are a sign of God's love to those who are suffering.

“Say the Word” Reflections from CCD / PREP

by Sr. Debra Marie

Our first day of PREP is Monday, September 19. Both parents and children will meet in St. Borromeo Church at 6:30 PM for our opening prayer service and then the children will be led by their catechists to the school and we will have an informational meeting for the parents in the Church. Please note that we cannot take any registrations on the first day of PREP. If you have not registered but wish your child to be enrolled, you may come to the church on September 19 for the prayer service and parent meeting, but your child will have to stay with you until they are properly registered. We look forward to seeing you all soon! God bless you.

PREP Prayer: Heavenly Father, we ask your blessing upon our children, our catechists and our parents as we begin this new PREP year. Send out the gift of the Holy Spirit upon them that they all may come to know You better and love You more fervently. Amen.
